The railroads are managed much better here in rance and in England, with a view to safety and omfort, and with equal speed, than in the United States. All the reads have double tracks, hence no collision. The cars have the appearance of so many Troy conches coupled together. Eich one his two seats facing each other, and each seat an comfortably accommodate six persons. There me three classes. On the payment of the fare, the passenger is shown into an apartment corresponding with his ticket-he can then have no access, whatever, to the cars. A few minutes before starting there are thrown open the three doors, and right opposite them are the corresponding cats. There is a person who is called the guard, who performs the duties of our conductor: ds a number at each station of either soldiors or police, I do not know which. In addition to these are seen the "gens d'armes"—fine looking felkineston,

The many modernmient communies are. very much as our independent companies are .--They wear, in addition, swords at their sides, and I believe they always wear the three-cornered hat. They are in all parts of the empire, and their duties are to maintain order and tranquility. When the doors are opened, as I have before described, the guard passes along and unlocks each door of the cars and throws them open. Each possenger is then shown his proper place. This Eldorado, arrangement reduces the whole thing to a system. There is no scampering, jostling, or burry. If one gets up to go out he distmbs nobodyamo he getting in. On the cars reaching a stn-tion, a person passes along the whole front of the train and announces, in a lond voice, the name o the place, so that unless a person is very mattentive he hears it, at least a dozen times. When I first got info the cars, I noticed that each had s amp. This was soon explained, for we passed before we got to Paris, through some ten or lifteen tunnels, the langest one being one mile and a half to length. Correspondence of the senting! The Water Power at Portage.

Mesons Epirons :-- I have hitherto told you eaders something of the supersor commercial ad-for Crawford. Our local sense was "license" or and accurate surveys of the isthmus lying becelled in force and extent by any in the State. The Wisconsin River at Porlage is some fortyfive rods wide, with an average depth of five feet. and runs at the rate of nearly five miles an bour, having a fall of about four feet in the mile. This immense volume of water is contributed by the vast expanse of country between here and Lake Superior and is consequently reliable and steady at all seasons of the year. A mile and a half above the city a ravine makes out from the river and leads directly to Silver Lake-a distance of about half a mile-and the outlet of this lake leads still on to the Fox River, giving a fall belwcon the two streams of from 8 to 12 feet .-Nature has so shaped the course of this ravine that an outlay of a few thousand dollars only would turn through it a sufficient quantity of water from the Wisconsin to do all the milling and manufacturing that will ever be requisite or ment would be only limited by the demand for its use; and while it would in so manner impede the navigation of the mighty Wisconsin, it would materially improve that of the Fox River, which is narrow and of less extent. No date the simple excavation of a few bundred yards of to render this immense power operative, and a new source of wealth and prosperity to Portuge. It may be a matter of some surprise that an and the expenditure of capital has accessarily been in other channels. We have now above three thousand inhabitants, and are ready to develops this new tome of wealth. A Company with a capital of $200,000 was chartered by the last Legislature, with full power to engage in this improvement, and it is understood that work will be commenced as soon as an organization can be effected under the charter. There can be no doubt that it will be a paying investment, ing Dulton and Newport, at the close of the Ju- and those who have examined the country and the plan, pronounce it the best field for capitalists of any ic this part of the state.

Eight and the chekuluant Valley of the Sen Paris-The Wer by rit - Aupolean 1 Pates, Feb. 17th, 1855. The railroads are managed much better here in rance and in England, with a view to safety and comfort, and with equal speed, than in the United States. All the roads have double tracks, hence no collision. The cars have the appearance of so many Troy conches coupled together. Each one has two sears facing each other, and each seal an comfortably accommodate six persons. There me three classes. On the payment of the fare the passenger is shown into an apartment corresponding with his ticket-he can then have no access, whatever, to the cars. A few minutes before starting there are thrown open the three doors, and right opposite them are the corresponding cats. There is a person who is called the guard, who performs the duties of our conductor: als a number at each station of either soldiers or police, I do not know which. In addition to these are seen the "gens d'armes"—fine looking fellone, who have a military look, and are dressed very much as our independent companies are .--They wear, in addition, swords at their sides, and

I believe they always wear the three-cornered hat. They are in all parts of the empire, and their duties are to maintain order and tranquility. When the doors are opened, as I have before described, the guard passes along and unlocks each door of the cars and throws them open. Each passenger is then shown his proper place. This trangement reduces the whole thing to a system. There is no scampering, jostling, or hurry. If one gets up to go out he disturbs nebodysame to getting in. On the cars reaching a station, a person passes along the whole front of the train and announces, in a land voice, the name of 910) the place, so that unless a person is very mattentive he hears it, at least a dozen times. When I first got into the cars, I noticed that each had a amp. This was soon explained, for we passed whole we got to Paris, through some ten or life son tunnels, the longest one being one mile and half to length. The card are heated by a tunk of hot water, extending from the engine through the whole train. In the case it is in the centre trareversly, and has the appearance of being made to rest the feet on. The inside of the first ches of cars are finished in the sixle of uphalstrry of our best private carriages. The second

State tax for 1856.--$852,405, wanted. State tax for 1850.--$852,405, wanted.

At the opening of this sestion, the governor and secretary of state, both announced that the recourses for the present year would amount to $285,816,91, and the expenditures nocessary, would only be $252,050-leaving a susplus in the treasury of over $30,000. This bear in mind, was 'ficial information! But the session is about to close and the reality has to be met. From a recent report of the treasurer, we secretain that the amount necessary to meet the expeditures of the current year, and to pay the debts of the last, will amount to about $450,000 and the commistion on finances in the sense report and a law has passed that body, to levy a tax of $252,405, on the real and personal property of the state the present year. This is $127.40 more than last year, and $260,000 greater that the official estimates. If the people had only had the $450,000 Lunaite Asylum saddled or them in addition to this tax would it not have had the $450,000 Lunaire Asyloin saddles or hem in addition to this iax would it not have been a new arrangemen?
